2021 Hometown Showdown Scheduled for May 1

Again this year, CFC Farm & Home will be hosting the Hometown Showdown, a one-day youth educational event and livestock showmanship jackpot. In the morning, participants will have the opportunity to listen to speakers talk about proper nutrition, fitting and showmanship of their respective species – beef, meat goat, sheep and hog. Following lunch, participants are invited to compete in a showmanship jackpot, where buckles will be awarded to the top showmen in each age division in each species. For more information on the event, visit <https://www.cfcfarmhome.com/events/2021-hometown-showdown/> or scan the QR code.

Feed Spotlight: A-Plus Line of Beef Feeds

CFC Farm & Home Center offers a line of A-Plus beef feeds, including Performance Creep, MSG, and Forage Boost. A-Plus feeds are enhanced with Actigen and Amaferm to promote gut health and increase digestibility. In a trial by CFC last summer, feeder calves fed A-Plus feeds had an increased average daily gain and a reduced cost of gain. More information on this study can be found on our website, <https://www.cfcfarmhome.com/home/whats-your-feed-tag-worth/>.

Agronomy Tip Sheet

As we head into April it is time to start thinking about planting soybeans. Planting dates can range from early April through early July. No matter when you plant, weed control is critical.

One important step in good, season-long weed control is using a residual herbicide. This will help keep new weeds from germinating longer into the season, allowing the soybean crop to reach full canopy and shade out small weeds. As we start to see more weeds with Roundup resistance, a multilevel approach to weed control becomes more important. Good residual control can allow you to make a later post-herbicide application to carry you through the season. Remember to scout your fields and spray for weeds when they are small for the best control.

Visit our website to read more on what to prepare for in April. Contact your CFC field staff for advice on a weed control program that will work for your farm.
