Welcome Our New Feed Mill Manager Bob Carson!

CFC would like to welcome Bob Carson as our new Feed Mill Manager! Bob comes to us with a wealth of experiences in the animal feed industry including being a sales representative, dairy specialist, hatchery manager, and feed mill manager to name a few. Most recently Bob was the feed mill manager at Sandy Pines Systems where he doubled production. Bob is originally from Indiana where he was involved with 4-H and began his herd of registered Red Poll cattle that he maintains to this day.

Please join us in welcoming Bob to CFC Farm and Home Center!

2024 Hometown Showdown

Join us April 27th at the Culpeper Ag Enterprise for the fourth annual CFC Hometown Showdown! The morning program includes species-specific educational sessions followed by lunch and a showmanship contest. Find more information and register online through our website or by scanning the QR code here. Registration closes April 5th.

Agronomy Tip Sheet

As we head into April, planting season is upon us. Corn and soybeans are planted in our area from very early April through late May for full season crops. No matter when you plant, good weed control is essential to getting the most yield out of your crop. Knowing what weeds you had last year is a good start when thinking about your weed control plan. Do you have herbicide resistant weeds such as marehail? Plan to mix modes of action to be more effective on your weeds. Scout fields before you make your preplant application to make sure you have the right tank mix to kill the existing weeds. Plan to use a good residual herbicide to help keep new weeds out of your field longer. A second application should be made when weeds are small to get the best control. Also look to layer in another residual with the second pass to extend weed control through crop canopy. CFC can help you develop a plan that will work on your farm.
